Bluestar BioAdvisors, LLC Welcomes Brad Ship as Managing Director

New York City, NY - Bluestar BioAdvisors, LLC (Bluestar) announced today that Brad Ship has been named as a Managing Director of the firm and a member of the Bluestar leadership team.

“The addition of Brad to Bluestar’s leadership team will be instrumental in setting us up for continued growth and success,” said Monika Trzcinska. “Brad is a highly respected leader in the strategic consulting industry, having more than 17 years of experience conducting and overseeing projects focused on corporate and commercial strategy, market access, portfolio management, as well as business development and licensing” added Paul Zhang. Darren Eskow added: “With the addition of Brad’s expertise, we will further enhance our expertise in addressing their strategic objectives in the constantly challenging and changing market landscape.”

Brad is a senior leader in the life sciences consulting industry. Most recently, he was a Partner at Alira Health and Artisan Healthcare (acquired by Alira). Earlier in his career, Brad worked as a consultant in strategy and finance at Parson Brinkerhoff. Over the years, Brad has led hundreds of consulting engagements, advising clients from biotech to top pharmaceutical companies. He has built a well-grounded perspective of the complexities that biopharma companies face when licensing and partnering, advancing clinical development, and commercializing novel agents. Brad’s expertise spans numerous therapeutic areas, including oncology, rare diseases, immunology, and other specialty markets. He is a recognized thought leader in commercialization of cell and gene therapies, having worked extensively in the space since its infancy. Brad holds a Master of Engineering Management from Dartmouth College and a B.Sc in Engineering from Lafayette College. “I am very excited to be teaming up with Bluestar and its leadership team to accelerate the company’s growth and continue to provide valuable advice and guidance to clients,” said Brad.
